PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

Adam Hosmer-Henner represents clients in litigation and arbitration involving a wide range of commercial matters. He has substantial experience representing clients in construction, trusts and estates, commercial torts, antitrust and unfair trade practices, health care, intellectual property, and contractual disputes. Mr. Hosmer-Henner frequently appears before state and federal courts in Nevada and California as both trial and appellate counsel. He is co-chair of the firm's Appellate Practice group.

Some of the more significant matters in which he has been involved include:

- Obtained En banc affirmance from the Nevada Supreme Court of the denial of an anti-SLAPP Motion related to political advertising
- Obtained affirmance from the Nevada Court of Appeals in favor of a Nevada casino after obtaining a judgment as trial counsel
- Represented the California Franchise Tax Board in a Section 1983 action at the Eastern District of California and the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals
- Represented a corporation in a federal court lawsuit involving parallel South Korean proceedings
- Represented Pardee Homes of Nevada in connection with disputes related to the Coyote Springs development
- Obtained a summary judgment for an acquirer in connection with post-closing issues stemming from an insurance company merger
- Represented a hospital in connection with a key executive's violation of a non-compete agreement
- Obtained a dismissal of breach of fiduciary duty claims against an out-of-state trustee
- Obtained a dismissal of tort claims against a former trustee
- Obtained a dismissal of bid protests against multiple construction companies
- Represented a geothermal company in connection with a mechanic's lien lawsuit
- Advised clients on Nevada gaming license applications and issues
- Represented multiple pro bono clients through the Legal Aid Center of Southern Nevada, the Washoe Law Library, and Project Salute
