Philip Mannelly is Co-Chair of our Construction Law & Litigation Practice Group and a member of our Commercial & Complex Litigation and Employment & Labor Law Practice Groups. He represents clients in a wide range of business litigation matters, with a primary focus on the construction industry, including prime contractors, subcontractors, design professionals, suppliers, and owners. Mr. Mannelly regularly assists clients as they navigate the unique construction laws in Nevada, advising them on complex contracts, licensing issues, mechanics' liens, and payment claims.

Mr. Mannelly serves as outside general counsel to the Nevada Chapter of the Associated General Contractors and multiple contractors in Nevada and Northern California. In December 2022, Nevada Governor Steve Sisolak appointed Mr. Mannelly to the Public Works Board for the State of Nevada.

Mr. Mannelly's experience includes representing owners, developers, contractors, and subcontractors through contract negotiations and project implementation for various types of delivery methods such as design-bid-build, design-build, and construction manager at risk (CMAR) for all types of projects, including energy, mining, manufacturing, industrial, warehousing, higher education, commercial, residential, civil infrastructure, mixed-use, lodging, entertainment, and transportation. Mr. Mannelly has litigation experience in all forums including arbitration, state court, and federal court. Whether planning projects, counseling on claims resolution or actively litigating a construction claim, Mr. Mannelly works toward each client's business objectives for the specific project. Whether the objective is project completion, revenue generation, or cost management, the focus is the same – forward progress.

Prior to joining McDonald Carano, Mr. Mannelly served as a Judicial Extern to the Honorable Larry R. Hicks with the United States District Court, District of Nevada.
