Chris Molina focuses on real estate transactions, land use matters and complex real estate litigation. Mr. Molina represents business clients in Nevada and California in real estate acquisitions, dispositions, and commercial leases, as well as general corporate transactions. He advises clients in regulated industries such as marijuana and gaming in connection with land use entitlements and zoning issues for projects across Southern Nevada. He is skilled at handling high stakes, complex real estate litigation matters including quiet title actions, commercial lease disputes, and eminent domain and inverse condemnation cases.

Mr. Molina's background also includes representation of individual and corporate clients with complex tax matters including civil tax controversies and income tax planning, as well as advising tax exempt organizations. He also assists clients with intellectual property matters involving trademark registration and protection, and has advised clients with all aspects of the business life cycle from entity formation to dissolution. Before joining McDonald Carano, Mr. Molina began his law career at one of the oldest and most respected firms in Central California.
