Chris Molina represents and advises valued business clients in a broad range of industries with a focus on tax, intellectual property and litigation. Mr. Molina aids clients in the handling of complex tax matters including civil tax controversies and income tax planning for both individual and corporate clients. He additionally has extensive experience offering counsel to tax exempt organizations and regularly assists clients with all aspects of the business life cycle from entity formation to dissolution. Mr. Molina advises clients on real property transactions, regulatory compliance issues, trademarks, and copyrights. His diverse experience provides a unique outlook on business opportunities.

Mr. Molina received his B.A. in English from the University of California, Irvine, and his J.D. from the University of California, Hastings College of the Law, where he participated in the university's tax concentration program. Before joining the firm, Mr. Molina began his career practicing law with one of the oldest and most widely respected law firms in Central California, representing clients in a variety of industries such as entertainment, healthcare, and agriculture.
